FOREWORD

To all of you who so willingly helped me to make this book possible, I want to say my hearty "Thank You" for without your help I could not have accomplished this task and completed this book.

I hope you will not expect these records to be without mistakes. Sure, there are mistakes, some made by you in not giving me the correct information or in not answering and therefore in not completing your record; some made by me for which I am sorry.

In paging hundreds of names and dates there are bound to be errors and again I say, "So sorry."

My prayer now and in the future is that many will enjoy this book and in some measure benefit by it.

Edwin and Melvin lost their lives one night when they lost their way in a dust storm. The two little boys went to visit their school mates on the evening of the 2nd of January about  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a mile from their place. When they started for home a big dust storm came up and the boys lost their way. Their parents, brothers and neighbors searched all night for them, but did not find them until next morning about  $1\frac{1}{4}$  mile from home frozen to death.
